Pretended to be raking hay.
A local Judge came riding by,
She thought he was a fat old guy.

The Judge his nether lip did curl;
Considered Maud a lazy girl.

And bade that animal "Giddap!"

Prosaic was the episode.

WHAT TO EAT IN HOT WEATHER.

Dr. Harvey W. Wiley, food expert of the Government, has a few simple rules for eating and drinking which apply to "grown-ups" during hot weather. Here are his commandments:

Eat one-fourth less in summer than in winter.

Eat meat in moderation. Select the lighter meats.

Banish all alcoholic beverages.

Eat most largely of cooked fruits and vegetables.

Drink nothing below 60 degrees in temperature, and drink sparingly.

Be careful to seek the society of cheerful friends.

Practice moderation in open-air exercise.

Don't fret; don't worry.

"Thousands of people are made sick in summer because they do not know how or what to eat," observed Dr. Wiley. "But the same criticism applies to the winter season as well.
Few people follow definite rules. Moderate eating, moderate drinking, moderate exercise in the open air and cheerful friends will keep any good man alive through the summer.

"Eating in summer should be diminished by about one-quarter, inasmuch as the heat energy is one-quarter less than in winter.

"Fruits and vegetables are the normal diet for summer, provided they are cooked."

Wives of the Deceitful Women Not to be Tolerated in Georgia

There promises to be a lively time in the Georgia Assembly this week when the bill introduced by Mr. Glenn of Whitfield, relating to the wives and blandishments of women, comes up for action.

The measure, on which a favorable report has been ordered, provides that if any woman, whether maid or widow, shall betray into marriage any unsuspecting male subject of that State, by scents, paints, powder, perfumes, cosmetic waters, artificial teeth, false hair, Spanish wool or any other kind of wool, iron stays, corsets, pads, hoops, high-heeled shoes, low cut waists, lingerie lace, variegated dropstitch or rainbow hosiery, or by any other artificial means or artificial practices, the marriage, upon conviction, shall be null and void.

Mr. Glenn, the author of the bill, has been at a summer resort recently, and says the bill is needed.

The annual announcement of the State University, Lexington, is made elsewhere. The time is on when schools to be patronized

It is estimated that the completion of the St. Mary's Cathedral at Covington will cost $200,000. The extension of the building to the sidewalk will cost a large sum. In addition there will be two towers of 180 feet each on either side. There will also be a terra cotta window of about 20 feet in diameter over the main entrance, and the steps leading into the main entrance will be of granite.
The location of the choir and the organ lofts will be changed to the front of the edifice.

REPUBLICAN TICKET.

FOR PRESIDENT,
WILLIAM H. TAFT,
of Ohio.

FOR VICE-PRESIDENT,
JAMES S. SHERMAN,
of New York.

FOR CONGRESS,
Hon. JOSEPH B. BENNETT.

The success of the Democratic Presidential ticket this year is predicated upon the biggest bunch of "Ifs" ever assembled together under one canvass.

This is an "If" and "But" Campaign.

Every proposition or assertion is prefixed by the little verb "if."

If BRYAN can do this; if BRYAN can do that;

if BRYAN can carry this and that State. If! If!! If!!! And then some more Ifs.

"If" this is to be a campaign of "Ifs," why, then, let her go, GALLAGHER. If leaves the persimmon high up on the tree and the race is anybody's money. Now comes The Lexington Herald, the Thunderer of the Bluegrass, with its little bunch of "Ifs" as a contribution to this otherwise remarkably monotonous "If campaign." The Herald jumps right in and begins with "But if" and ends with "But it."

"If" you don't believe it, here it is: "But if Mr. BRYAN is elected this year he cannot hope for the fruition of his policies within a single Presidential term. The Senate will certainly be Republican. There will have to be an almost unprecedented landslide, followed by another overwhelming victory two years later, to change the complexion of the Senate."

"Even if the Senate should become Democratic as the result of the elections of 1910, Mr. BRYAN's term would expire before he would have time to accomplish much. The complete triumph of liberal and progressive policies will require a practically unbroken series of victories for the next four years at least.

"If the Democrats can elect their ticket this year with a good working majority, and retain the confidence of the country in the Congressional elections of 1910, they will be in good position to win the Presidential election of 1912, and victory then would probably mean complete triumph for all the party is trying to do. But it is vain to hope for definite results of consequence at an earlier day."

The simple life always appears more enticing in the good old summer time.

DICK JONES' HIT.

Many years ago when the lamented Dick Jones of Louisville was a member of the Legislature, and there were still a few wild deer in the mountain counties of Kentucky, a member of the House from that section offered a bill of the following title: "An act to prohibit the killing of deer in the counties of Clay, Jackson and Owsley for a period of five years."

Just about that time several feud killings had taken place in one of these counties, so when the bill came up for passage, Dick Jones jumped to his feet and said:

"Mr. Speaker, I move to amend the title of that bill by striking out the word 'deer' and inserting the word 'man.'"

It was such a palpable hit and raised such a laugh that the bill was actually defeated, although a meritorious one.

THE LOVEJOYS' BURGLAR

Mr. and Mrs. Lovejoy were sitting with the remains of their evening meal between them. Mrs. Lovejoy, with her elbows comfortably on the table, was sipping a cup of tea and wistfully looking across the table at her husband, who was immersed in the evening paper. Yes, they had been married long enough to get used to each other. Mrs. Lovejoy, after being shut up in a flat all day, was crazy to talk, but she had already learned better than to ask her husband any questions while he was deep in a newspaper story. Finally, however, as she saw his eyes switch to another story, she dare to break the silence.

"Well," she began tentatively, "what was going on downtown today?"

"Thing m'ch," came indistinctly from behind the paper. There was a short silence and then she tried again.

"Have a busy day down at the office?"

"Mm," replied her husband.

There was a longer silence, and Mrs. Lovejoy set her teacup down in desperation.

"Henry," she said, "have you got a revolver?"

Mr. Lovejoy "fell" for this all right. He crumpled his paper up and stared at her in astonishment.

"Have I got a revolver? No, I have not. What made you ask such a question?"

"Because," said Mrs. Lovejoy, putting her chin down on her folded hands, "I think we ought to have one in the flat here."

"What are we going to shoot with it?" said Mr. Lovejoy, picking up his paper.

"Burglars," said Mrs. Lovejoy decisively.

Mr. Lovejoy dropped his paper again.

"Burglars!" he exclaimed. "Why, have you seen any reconnoitering around here?"

"No, but they are moving up in this direction. Some time ago the papers said they were robbing houses in this neighborhood. Then they moved up in the next block and frightened an old lady nearly to death. Then I saw yesterday where a house only a few doors away was entered, so next they will land up here," she ended triumphantly.

"So you think we ought to have a gun here to repel possible burglars," said Mr. Lovejoy, looking amused.

"Yes, I do," she answered with conviction. "I know I should feel much safer if I knew there was one in the house. Sometimes I wake up in the night and hear all sorts of creepy sounds and noises, only sometimes you snore so loud I can't hear them distinctly."

"Well, I guess I can handle any burglar that butts in here," said Mr. Lovejoy confidently.

"I suppose you could—if you waked up in time," said his wife, who failed to see the humor in her husband's boast as contrasted with his office-bred physique.

"Oh, well, then," said Mr. Lovejoy, with an indulgent air, "if it will make you feel any better I'll get a gun and keep it here. Anything to avoid an argument," and he went back to his paper.

Though Lovejoy would not admit it even to himself, his wife's arguments had made an impression on him. He had never owned a revolver in his life, but he decided that he himself would feel safer at night hereafter if he had a weapon within reach. So on his way home the next evening he bought a second-hand revolver in a pawnshop and carried it home. He showed it to his wife and spoke boastfully of "making any Raffles that poked his head in the room look like a pepper box."

Mrs. Lovejoy declared herself delighted and that hereafter she would be able to sleep in peace. However, she was dreadfully afraid of the weapon, and begged her husband to lock it up where she couldn't stumble over it and accidentally fire it off. So Mr. Lovejoy laughingly shoved the revolver into a bureau drawer and turned the key on it.

It was a Sunday afternoon a week or two later that Mr. and Mrs. Lovejoy left their flat for a visit to friends. The friends insisted on their remaining to dinner, so they did not reach home till 11 o'clock that night. Mrs. Lovejoy preceded her husband up the stairs.

"Why, Henry!" she exclaimed. "We forgot to lock the door!"

"Did we?" said her husband, only mildly interested; "why I am sure I locked it."

A shriek came from Mrs. Lovejoy, who had gone within. Her husband ran to her. She pointed in dumb horror. The sideboard in the dining-room had been swept clear of all portable silverware. A hurried investigation revealed that the bedroom had also been ransacked. The trail of the sneak-thief was everywhere evident.

Mr. Lovejoy sprang for the bureau drawer in which the pistol had lain forgotten ever since he had put it there. He fumbled in his pockets and then sat down weakly on the edge of the bed.

"My keys are in my other trousers pocket," he moaned. "We didn't lock the door after all."

Mrs. Lovejoy snatched at the drawer. It came open readily. It was quite bare within.

"And, by George!" groaned her husband. "They got the gun, too."

Mr. and Mrs. E. N. Forsythe moved from their Market street residence today to take up their summer home on the Parry farm near Mayslick.

INVENTS CHURN IN DREAM

Indiana Man Finds Slumber Makes Him $25,000 Richer

Willis Pratt, a farmer living near Farmersburg, Ind., is $25,000 richer than he was, owing to an invention which he pictured in a dream.

Some time ago Pratt dreamed three nights in succession about the construction of an improved churn, and he set to work and modeled one after the one pictured in his dreams.

As soon as the model was completed he obtained a patent. Last week a churn company of Chicago asked Pratt to place a price on his invention, which he did, putting the figures so high that he had little hope of the company accepting the price. Contrary to his expectation, he received a reply that the company would accept the offer.

MR. WILLIAM H. GILL.

Mr. William H. Gill died at his home near Washington Tuesday at noon, after a brief illness of bilious fever.

Deceased was a son of the late W. R. Gill and was about 24 years of age. He was a young man of many good qualities and leaves a host of friends in the Washington neighborhood and in this city who will regret to learn of his untimely death.

The funeral will take place Thursday afternoon at 3 o'clock, sun time, with Rev. Paul Rhodes of the Washington Presbyterian Church in charge of the services. The interment will take place in the Washington Cemetery.

MRS. NANCY GRANT STONE.

Mrs. Nancy Grant Stone, one of Maysville's highly respected and venerable citizens, passed away last evening at 6 o'clock at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Martha J. Collins, in East Second street, aged 97 years and 6 months.

Mrs. Stone was born near Lancaster, Ky., January 15th, 1811. She was married in Mt. Carmel to Thomas P. Stone in 1829, and after a residence in Missouri of nineteen years, removed to Maysville in 1855, where she spent the remainder of her useful life, loved and respected by all who had the pleasure of her acquaintance.

She was preceded to the grave by her husband twenty-five years ago.

She was a zealous and devout member of the First Presbyterian Church of this city, having early in life espoused the cause of her Master.

She leaves two daughters, Mrs. Martha J. Collins and Mrs. M. F. Chase, both of this city, and two grandsons, Mr. Eugene Collins of Cincinnati and Mr. Harold H. Collins of this city.

The funeral arrangements have not been completed and will be given in tomorrow's paper.

MRS. CORNELIA MONTMOLLIN.

Mrs. Cornelia Montmollin, wife of the late Dr. James M. Montmollin, died yesterday at her home at Ashland.

Mrs. Montmollin was the daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Charles Wilson, and was born at Greenup January 14th, 1847.

Mrs. Garrett B. Wall, one of the surviving children, was summoned Sunday to her mother's bedside from this city.

The funeral and interment of Mrs. Montmollin occurs this afternoon at Ashland.

Mrs. Lucy Myers, a well-known woman of Nicho as county, is dead.

Captain Miles K. Taubee arrived from San Juan, Porto Rico, yesterday for a short visit, after which he will return to New York to enter the Army competition which will make a tour over the United States. He will return to Maysville about September 1st. Captain Taubee is an uncle of Dr. W. H. Taubee of East Second street.

THE CITY'S SNAIL SERVICE.

The Slower the Work the Steadier the Job Has Been the Rule in the Public Works of Boston.

In its latest report to the mayor the finance commission deals with one of the most flagrant abuses in municipal service that has yet come before it. The item of labor is about the heaviest that has to be met by city appropriation, and a great deal depends upon its efficiency or inefficiency. It is a matter of common observation that the city employees are time killers. The sluggish pace at which they perform their labors is a popular joke, but it is no joke to those who pay the taxes and for every dollar contributed receive but the fraction of its value in service. Any one watching the performance of a gang of city men in any particular line of work can be convinced that we are supporting an army of drones. The principle by which they are governed is not a fair day's work for a fair day's pay, but the smallest amount of work that can be accomplished without endangering a position.

Unfortunately positions have been only too secure under recent conditions, because they have not depended upon values, but upon pull. It has been even probable during the last few years that a man was more in danger of losing his job from being too active than from being too inert. Activity endangers the opportunities of a larger number of men. The more the work can be made to hold out the greater the number of places for the benefit of the political contingent.

We have not needed an investigation to prove all this to the average citizen. The proof is patent wherever city work is carried on, but the finance commission has rendered a service by showing through comparison with the work of private corporations to what extent approximately the city is being defrauded and to what extent it has lost ground in efficiency during the past thirty years. Under the system of fewer hours there has been more than a proportional loss in accomplishment. This is not only demoralizing to all holding city jobs, but it is embarrassing to the claim of labor organizations that as much work could be done in an eight hour day as in one of nine or ten hours. Thus they are not only cheating the city, but they are doing an injustice to the great industrial body for whose good faith they are in no small degree responsible.

The figures furnished by the commission are eloquent. They show that in a sewer department job the highest average number of bricks laid per hour was seventy-eight, whereas the lowest average upon metropolitan work was 165 and the highest 384, or nearly five times as much in the latter case. If this discrepancy exists in skilled labor, where some pride of calling may be supposed to exist, to even a greater extent is it likely to be found in those inferior lines where the deficiencies of a single worker are concealed in those of the whole number.—Boston Transcript.

Berkeley, Cal., Rejects M. O.

J. V. Mendenhall, town clerk, writes that the citizens voted against the proposition to issue bonds to establish an electric light plant in connection with an incinerating plant, for which the proposition to issue bonds was also defeated.—Electrical World.

An Unprofitable Monopoly.

During the past two years the operating costs of the municipal electric light plant of Verdala, Minn., exceeded the receipts by 35 per cent. If interest and depreciation were added the excess would be 50 per cent. The plant has a monopoly of the lighting business.

You Had a

Good Summer Tonic

Most people at this time of the year need a good general system tonic. Even those who take the very best care of themselves find that they are obliged in the hot weather to tone up the system. You may not feel the need of it this week, but you will before long; but whether you do now or not remember that PECOR'S ORANGE PHOSPHO is the best known SYSTEM TONIC. It acts through the blood on every part of the system, reviving and stimulating it to new life and injecting the whole body full of energy. JUST WHAT YOU NEED. Only 50 cents per bottle.

CHICAGO LAWYER

Divorced by His Wife Because of Preference for “Affinity”

The following from yesterday's Lexington Leader is of interest in this section, where the parties are well known—

Vincent H. Perkins, a distinguished Chicago Democrat who formerly lived in Lexington, where he practiced law and was also for four years an employee of the Internal Revenue service, has just been divorced by his wife on the ground of having an “affinity.”

Mr. Perkins is a man of fine appearance and his Lexington friends watched with interest his meteoric political career in Chicago under the Harrison and Dunne administrations while the Democrats were in power. He first came into prominence as a member of the City Council, then became Supervisor of the North Town, a post of great power and influence, and more recently he was assistant corporation counsel under Mayor Dunne. Some years ago he was nominated for Congress in one of the Chicago districts, but was defeated.

Mr. Perkins was married in Lexington to Mrs. Perkins, widow of Rev. Mr. Perkins, whose maiden name was Miss Evelyn Merrill, a handsome woman, who resided for many years on North Broadway about where the Milward undertaking establishment is now located.

Keep Your Bowels Open

A Safe Certain Home Remedy that is Sold
By All Druggists

A fact any doctor will verify is that constipated people suffer most from disease. Regular bowel action is absolutely necessary to health. People who are constipated either part or all of the time must use something to make their bowels move. This should not be a violent purgative or a cathartic that merely tears its way through the bowels emptying them of waste matter for the time but leaving them in a weakened state that prolongs the constipated condition. Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin is an easy, pleasant, natural laxative that removes the waste matter and establishes regular, daily movements without pain or gripe.

Children and delicate women should never be given strong physic for it not only weakens the bowels but the entire system. Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin serves as a tonic and an aid to digestion as well as a laxative that is certain in its effect upon the most obstinate old cases and yet safe and pleasant for a baby.

With the first few doses the ill effects of constipation, such as dyspepsia, indigestion, liver trouble, biliousness, flatulency, sour stomach, sick headache, bloated stomach, etc., quickly disappear. It is a remedy that should be in every home for every member of the family at some time has need of a safe, sure laxative.

Mrs. J. C. Cooper, Chicago, Ill., writes: “I use Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin for myself and family. I keep it on hand constantly, as I find it to be a most pleasant laxative and is all you claim for it.”

Sarah J. Houser, Eureka Springs, Ark., says: “I would have been dead had it not been for Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin. It is the best medicine I ever used for constipation, indigestion and biliousness.”

M. R. Zerkel, Troy, Ohio, considers the best known laxative for children.

We are glad to send a free sample to any one who has not used it and will give it a fair trial. Write today to Penicillin Co., 305 Caldwell Bldg., Madison, Ill. All druggists sell it at 50c and $1.00 per bottle.

LAWRENCE OUT

Only Kehoe and Hager Are Left In the Race in the Ninth District

CYNTHIANA, Ky., July 14th.—It is reported here today that Ellis Lawrence of Boyd county has withdrawn from the race for Congress in this District, leaving the race between Hager of Boyd and Kehoe of Mason.

The principal fight will be in Harrison county with each candidate claiming the advantage, which at this time favors Hager. Mr. Hager spoke at Broadwell Tuesday night and appealed to the voters to give the nomination to his end of the District, as for the last ten years the honor has been given to the Bluegrass.

Here is one case of it:

J. M. Lloyd, farmer, Rural Free Delivery,
No. 5, Maysville, Ky., says:

"I am only too pleased to tell of my experience with Doan's Kidney Pills and hope that it may be the means of benefiting other sufferers of kidney troubles. About five years ago my kidneys suddenly became disordered and for several months I was bothered by constant dull pains across my back and through the loins. When I stooped or lifted, sharp twinges shot through my body and caused me the most intense suffering. Learning of Doan's Kidney Pills, I purchased a box at J. J.
Wood & Son's Drugstore and began using them. The contents of this box effected a complete cure and since then I have not had a touch of backache or any other trouble arising from inactive kidneys."

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven catarrh to be a constitutional disease and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, O., is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from

Did You Ever

Stop to think that if you personally selected the cloth for your own garments you would look different from the rank and file you meet, and that if this cloth were cut to your own measure, and skillfully and honestly tailored by hand, you would have clothes that fit you more perfectly and give you better service than the clothing worn by the masses? Think it over, then have me make you a suit from the cloth and fashion you like best; you will then understand what real merchant tailoring is. The cost is but slight compared with the value given. Suits to order $18 to $40.

Graduating
Time :-:

There is nothing which would please the graduate more than one of our Solid Gold Watches or perhaps a Diamond Ring, as they are things which can be kept a life-time and recall the wearer of those happy school days. We also have full line of Gold and Silver Novelties, which has made our store famous for its up-to-dateness.
